PROFILE

As a dedicated Computer Science student and junior programmer, I have pursued my passion for technology from an early age. My educational journey took me from grade 1 to grade 9 at Post Cambridge Academy in Teppi, followed by grades 10 to 12 at Elebethel Academy in Addis Ababa. From my initial exposure to programming, I swiftly gravitated towards Python and began creating beginner-level games and projects. As my skills grew, I delved into web development, mastering essential technologies such as HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. Exploring further, I honed my expertise in frameworks like React and Django, expanding my toolkit to create dynamic and engaging web experiences. With a strong foundation and an unwavering passion for coding, I am committed to continual learning and dedicated to pushing the boundaries of what I can achieve through programming.
